

Pin Hex Button Head Machine Screws

Our Pin Hex Screws are one of our most popular ranges of security screws here at SSP. They are medium torque screws that are perfect for most security applications. Essentially a hex screw with a pin in the middle, this screw prevents removal with easily obtainable Allen keys and is one of the most difficult screws to remove without the exact matching driver.

If you need to match a screw that you already have please see below for our Pin Hex Button Head Machine Screw head dimensions, which should hopefully help you match with our range, alongside our gauge sizing for those unfamiliar with the metric gauging system.

If you already have some pin hex screws and are unsure as to the correct tooling, please see below our pin hex machine screw tooling guide, which should help you find the relevant insert for your screw.
