

Pin Hex Button Head Self Tapping Screws

Our Pin Hex Screws are one of our most popular ranges of security screws here at SSP. They are medium torque screws that are perfect for most security applications. Essentially a hex screw with a pin in the middle, this screw prevents removal with easily obtainable Allen keys and is one of the most difficult screws to remove without the exact matching driver. If you need to match a screw that you already have please see below for our Pin Hex Button Head Self Tapper head dimensions, which should hopefully help you match with our range, alongside our gauge sizing for those unfamiliar with the metric gauging system.
